Planning considerations

In taking account of the application documents submitted (and supplemented and/or amended where relevant) and the site and its environs, the main issue central to the determination of this application is whether the amenity value of the tree is high enough to warrant a Tree Preservation Order (TPO), given the extent of works proposed.

Planning assessment

The trees are set away from the street frontage against a substantial green backcloth and form a somewhat tightly packed group. The smaller specimens have minimal amenity value and their removal would not be harmful to the character or appearance of the area. Reasonable crown reduction of the remaining trees would not unacceptably diminish their amenity value.

In view of the aforementioned considerations a TPO would not be justified in this case.

Recommendation

No Objection

None of the other matters raised through the publicity and consultation process amount to material considerations outweighing the assessment of the main issues set out above, noting that conditions or obligations have been attached where meeting the tests for their imposition. Where relevant, regard has been had to the public sector equality duty, as required by section 149 of the Equality Act 2010 and to local finance considerations (as far as it is material), as required by section 70(2) of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended), as well as climate change, human rights and other international legislation.
