Good Morning Martin,

Both options would be entirely reasonable – Has the stonework on the east elevation been previously painted?

Hi James

Regarding the exterior paint colours the clients like White Lead by Little Greene and Marble by Fired Earth. They have a preference on a gloss finish which I believe only Little Greene offer; the Fired Earth paint would have to be in Eggshell. Additionally they want to paint the stone above and below each window on the east elevation in the same colour, obviously this would be in an exterior masonry paint.

What are your thoughts?

Two of the new window will be in place by the end of today too. Hopefully the first batch (6no) will all be in by the end of the week.

Regards.

Martin Bowman
