Morning Rory

The principle of recreation and tourism development in the open countryside which compliments the National Forest is appropriate, with support given under local and national planning policies. I have little concern as to the siting of the two elements of the proposal. There are a few matters to consider however.

· The access onto Ticknall Road is presently not in accordance with previous planning permissions given at Buildings Farm. The access point directly opposite Coal Lane should have been closed to vehicular traffic under permission ref: 9/2013/1024. This is a matter which is presently being pursued. However it will be necessary to satisfy the Highway Authority that the alternative northern access has suitable emerging visibility such that its use can be intensified.

· The design of the cabin is also of a little concern with its height leading to it appearing very prominent when viewed from nearby footpaths and indeed from the centre of Hartshorne. I would advise that a single storey cabin is more appropriate.

· As to the pond you may wish to liaise with the Environment Agency to ensure they have no concerns.
